THE DEATH SENTENCE

Cal Powers Convicted This Morning at Georgetown.

Tried By His Political Enemies He Is A Man Found Guilty of Murder.

ARGUMENT CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Georgetown, Ky., August 29.—Cal Powers, former secretary of state, was today found guilty by the jury of complicity in the assassination of Senator Goebel and his punishment was fixed at death. The verdict created considerable surprise, as it was generally believed that a hung jury would result.

This is the third time he has been convicted, having been given life sentences before. Owing to the manner of getting the jury, the politics of the jurors, and the perjury of some of the commonwealth's witnesses, which in many cases was fully but futilely exposed, many did not expect anything but conviction. A new trial will be asked at once and if not granted an appeal will be taken as in the other cases.

The argument closed last night. Powers declared to the jury that the star witness of the commonwealth, Wharton Golden, was swearing to keep out of the penitentiary, and that Henry Yontsey was swearing to get out of that institution. He denied that he ever had any connection with Yontsey, and pointed out that the testimony shows that he did not know Yontsey thirty days before the shooting.

At one point in his argument Powers declared that he was willing to rest the question of his guilt or innocence on the good or bad faith of his trip to Louisville on the morning of the day of the killing, when, as the defense testimony shows, he was en route to Western Kentucky to get up a crowd of petitioners to go to Frankfort to call on the general assembly. He declared that he would never follow the course of Yontsey by feigning a fit in the court room to avoid just punishment fixed by the law, but would fight to the last in the courts to prove his innocence.

The defendant explained his having signed the written agreement produced by the state witness, Yontsey, relative to the affidavit signed by Yontsey in the Louisville jail, declaring Powers innocent, by saying that he signed it to get an affidavit of innocence, fearing that Yontsey might some day turn up as a commonwealth witness and he would then be able to confront him with the affidavit.

The closing hour was devoted to an explanation of the pardon by Taylor to him, and to his having gathered together and taken the mountain army on January 25, 1900, to Frankfort. He declared that it was a peaceable body, and went there only on a peaceful mission. Powers closed with a word picture of his aged mother sitting in her mountain home waiting the verdict in this case, and made a strong plea for acquittal.

Commonwealth Attorney Franklin then began the closing argument in the case on behalf of the state. He declared that Powers had made the best speech on his side of the case, but that it was full of misrepresentations of the facts and the testimony, and that Powers had repeatedly gone outside the record in his argument. He said that the reason he did not attempt to correct Powers on the errors was because he wanted the defendant to say everything to the jury that he pleased, so that he might have no cause to complain of the treatment of him by the commonwealth in this matter.

"If I did raise an objection and this man should be hanged, as I believe he will be by this jury, I should despise myself for that objection," exclaimed the state's attorney.

Mr. Franklin closed at 9:30 o'clock, and Judge Robbins gave the case to the jury with directions to retire and consider it for an hour.

The jury at 10:35 o'clock reported that no agreement had been reached

HURT IN A WRECK

Members of St. Louis and Cleveland Clubs in Smash-up.

Pitcher Sudhoff Among the Injured —Vardman Governor of Mississippi.

STORM'S DAMAGE IN STATE

HASEBALL PLAYERS HURT.

Peru, Ind., August 29.—A Watash train carrying the St. Louis and Cleveland league baseball teams was wrecked early this morning at Napoleon, Ohio. Several players were hurt. Among the injured are: William Sudhoff, pitcher for St. Louis, hand cut and wrist sprained; Sydney Mercer, secretary of the St. Louis team, rib fractured; Emmott Heldrick, center fielder, St. Louis, right leg and face badly cut; Napoleon Lajoie, Cleveland, knee sprained.

NEW GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI.

Jackson, Miss., August 29.—The election for governor in Mississippi is over. James K. Vardman will be the next governor having defeated Critz. The returns were bitterly disappointing to the supporters of the man from Clay. In nearly every case the returns showed extraordinary gains for Vardman and in some Vardman actually carried counties that Critz carried easily before. These figures soon convinced the most ardent Critz men that the fight had gone against their favorite and by noon every vestige of hope had vanished from their bosoms.

While the majority Vardman has received is not overwhelming it is substantial enough to show a decided victory in a contest where every inch of the ground was so fiercely fought.

STORM NEAR HENDERSON.

Henderson, Ky., August 29.—A storm did considerable damage to Roberts, this county, and vicinity last night. The Methodist church, costing $3,000, was blown down and a large tobacco factory was demolished. Considerable damage was done to corn and tobacco.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Hazard, Ky., August 29.—Lightning struck the court house killing John J. Baker. Six others were badly hurt and the building was destroyed.

BARRACKS BLOWN UP.

Constantinople, August 29.—Turkish barracks at Adrianople is reported blown up by rebels.

MARRIED IN CAIRO

PADUCAH MAN REPORTED TO HAVE WEDDED THERE YESTERDAY.

A telegram from Cairo states that James M. Sparo, of Paducah, and Miss Mary A. Davis, of Henderson, Ky., were married there yesterday.

Frank Hutchinson and Miss Ora Richards, of Rives, Tenn., were also married there.

No such man as given above is known here.

and was excused until this morning.

At 11:20 this morning the jury came in and reported its verdict finding Powers guilty and fixing the penalty at death. Powers was unmoved, but Arthur Goebel collapsed utterly and had to be led from the court room. Attorney Wilson secured the time of the court to 1:30 o'clock to make a motion for a new trial and appeal.

WEEK'S NEWS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Bank clearings this week $661,003 Same week last year 532,065 Increase, 28,938

Business with the banks shows an increase over the same week last year in the clearings of $28,938.

Wholesale drygoods houses report an excellent trade this season somewhat ahead of last year. In groceries and other lines it is also good.

Manufacturers are still booking orders while many of them are sold up to capacity.

Nothing definite will be done in the Rex manufacturing project until Mr. C. E. Everitt, the agent, is able to resume work. The negotiations have been delayed by illness in Mr. Everitt's family, and when he is able to return to work, it is likely the finishing touches will be put on the deal.

Bradstreet's today will say: Trade conditions are still slightly naeaven, due to the backwardness of crops in some sections, damage reports from others and uncertainty as to the monetary outlook. Fall trade in favorable situations compares well with a year ago, while at others a disposition to hold back is manifested. Our congestion reports are still numerous. The feeling grows that the iron trade is grounding on the bottom, as regards prices, and small buying of pig iron is more marked. Taken as a whole the situation has many elements of strength. What business is doing is of a solid character.

A CIPHER MESSAGE

Read Incorrectly Caused False Report.

Our Vice Consul Was Not Killed But Will Make a Bluff.

A GUN BOAT LEAVES.

Constantinople, Aug. 29.—It transpires that the report that Vice Consul Magelsen was killed is incorrect. An unknown individual fired at him, the bullet passing close to the vice-consul, but did not touch him.

The fall of Beirut afterwards visited Vice Consul Magelsen, expressed his regrets for the outrage, and ordered measures for the arrest of the perpetrators. The error in stating that Vice Consul Magelsen had been killed arose from a mistake in a cipher telegram.

CONFIRMED BY MINISTER.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The state department has received a cable dispatch from Minister Leischman at Constantinople confirming the Associated Press dispatch announcing that the report that Vice Consul Magelsen at Beirut had been assassinated was incorrect. The minister says the mistake made by him in announcing the assassination was due to an error in the transmission of the cipher dispatch from Consul Raynaud at Beirut.

WILL MAKE DEMONSTRATION.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt will not countermand the order to Rear Admiral Cotton to proceed with the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco and the gunboat Machias to Turkish waters.

The attack on Mr. Magelsen is regarded as an incident which points to the necessity of a demonstration which will have the effect of insuring the protection of Americans in the Turkish empire.

GUNBOAT LEAVES.

Geona, Aug. 29.—The United States Gunboat Machias left today for Beirut in pursuance of orders.

USED SKELETON KEY

Thieves get into Residence of Mr. Joe Bondurant.

Steal About $160 Worth of Goods, Including Diamond Ring and Watch.

THEY LEFT NO CLUE

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. Joe Bondurant at Sixth and Harrison streets last night and secured Mrs. Bondurant's gold watch, diamond ring and pocketbook, aggregating in value about $160.

Mr. Bondurant reported the matter to the police this morning but has absolutely no clue as to the burglars or the means they adopted in securing entrance to his house.

This morning when the family rose the jewelry was missing and a thorough search failed to reveal them. The burglars knew the house well, Mr. Bondurant thinks, as no doors shows any signs of having been tampered with and the windows remained as secure as when the family retired. It is thought skeleton keys were used. The ring was valued at about $75, the watch at $75 and the pocketbook contained several dollars.

This is about the only theft of consequence reported. It is impossible to prevent grafters and thieves from following circuses, as all detectives and police officers now realize, but yesterday there was an unusually small number of offenses incident to the visit of circuses.

A great many people yesterday placed their jewelry, money and other valuables in the safe until after the departure of the show, as often the crooks get in their work while the family is at the circus.

This afternoon a burglary at the home of Mr. J. Andy Baner, at Eighth and Madison streets, was reported at police headquarters. The theft is supposed to have been committed yesterday or last night, and a diamond brooch, breastpin, ring and other jewelry were taken, the total value being about $300 or more. There is no clue.

SEIZED THE WATCH

Mrs. Sophia Laevison Has Close Call From Being Robbed.

Thief Seized Her Watch in Broad Daylight Near Fourth and Broadway.

SHE CAUGHT HIM BY EAR

Mrs. Sophia Laevison, of Sixth and Washington streets, one of Paducah's best known and most respected ladies, had an exciting encounter with three young men at Fourth and Broadway yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, but her pluck and bravery saved her several hundred dollars.

She was shopping with two friends from Cairo and had just left the McPherson drug store to cross the street towards Alvey's drug store when three young men walked up behind her and attempted to snatch her watch and diamond pendant.

One reached over her shoulder and secured hold of the thin chain, which broke and let the watch drop to the street. Mrs. Laevison was on the alert, however, and grabbed the man by the ear pulling him down as she reached down and picked up the watch from the street. He then made another grab, this time for the diamond pendant but she struck him with her parasol and drove him back. The men thwarted in their purpose then jumped on a fast moving street car and made their escape.

Mrs. Laevison did not realize what had happened until after the men had gone, and then became faint and had to be taken to the office of Dr. Sights and Childress on Fifth street near Broadway. At the time of the attempted robbery which was over in a few seconds, there were very few people on the street but the affair created some little excitement after the facts became known.

Mrs. Laevison's watch is an old but valuable one and cost $250 many years ago, being an old Swiss watch and a delicate piece of work. The pendant is also very valuable and she considers her escape very fortunate. This is the only attempted robbery or holdup of its kind reported as a result of yesterday's circus crowds.

Mrs. Laevison is confident all that saved her is the fact that she managed to get the young reprobate by the ear and hold him until she could recover the watch and prevent his running away with it.

$18,000 BUILDING

Architect B. B. Davis to Draw Plans.

La Center College Will be One of the Best in the State.

Capt. B. B. Davis will go to La Center Monday to submit preliminary drawings and examine the ground upon which an $18,000 college is to be erected. Capt. Davis secured the contract for drawings for this building over several Louisville architects, and the selection of his plan was decided compliment, although no more than expected by his many friends.

The building is to be of brick and stone and will have all modern equipment. It is a private enterprise, and will afford the best of educational advantages. Among the incorporators are: Messrs. S. T. Payne, D. J. Rawlings, B. F. Bradshaw, and Moore, of La Center.

The building will be begun as soon as the plans are completed and the contract is let.

BRICK FELL ON HIS HEAD—Charles Jones, a bricklayer, while cutting a window in the building upstairs over C. C. Lee's, at Third and Court, was struck on the head and painfully wounded this morning. He went to Bond's drug store and had the wound dressed, and was soon able to resume work.

PRETTIER THAN EVER

The Kentucky Ready for the Opening Monday.

Manager English Has One of the Most Attractive Box Offices in the Country.

FINE LIST OF ATTRACTIONS.

The Kentucky theatre is ready for the formal opening of the season, which begins Monday and lasts well into May. Manager English has completed the furnishings in his box office and it is one of the finest and most artistic and attractive in the South, if not the entire country.

Manager English is to make his headquarters at the Kentucky this season, and for that reason has taken exceptional pride in making it as pretty as possible. He has pictures, ornaments and bric-a-brac from many places and of many descriptions, sent him by friends he has met in his travels, or on their tours with various companies.

One of his most cherished souvenirs is a framed letter he received a few days ago from the great Cndaby Packing company, of Omaha, stating that they regretted very much that he voluntarily relinquished their agency in Paducah, as he was the best agent they ever had anywhere. Considering the hundreds of agents the concern has all over the country, the fact that the company says Mr. English was the best of them is very pleasing, and Manager English will always prize the letter very highly.

He also has a bronze statue of Dick Welles, the world's champion running horse, sent him by the owner, Rome Keppas, who is a particular friend of Manager English. He also has a dagger made from Chinese coins, which was sent him by Mr. E. J. Connelly, who made such a hit in Paducah in "The Belle of New York," and is now one of the leading tenors in "Sleeping Beauty and the Beast."

Manager English also has scores of photographs of talented people who have played at The Kentucky or whom he has met in his travels. His souvenirs are well worth seeing and will no doubt make his box office one of the most popular and talked of in the country.

This season Mr. Wm. Malone will be stage manager. Prof. Wm. Deal will be leader of the orchestra again, and will have a first class set of musicians. Mr. Tom Wallace will be assistant treasurer and gallery ticket seller and Mr. Will Epstein door keeper.

The ushers and water boys will be uniformed, but probably not on the opening night as their uniforms are not all ready yet.

The theatre will be heated by the new steam heating company, instead of from the Palmer house furnace. Connections have been made with the new company's pipes and this winter no trouble will be encountered in securing plenty of heat. The Utterback Bill Posting Co., will do the bill posting, which Manager English has his own men do last season.

A large crowd will no doubt be on Monday to the opening in "Mr. Jolly of Joliet." The theatre has been redecorated where new decorations were needed, and thoroughly prepared for the season. The attractions will not be so plentiful in September as in the following months, but there are good ones for every month and every week of the season.

THE MAID AND THE PAIL OF MILK.

Find Her Mistress.

Dolly, the milkmaid, having been a good girl for a long time, and earful in her work, her mistress gave her a pail of new milk for herself. With the pail on her head, she was tripping gaily along to the house of the doctor, who was going to give a large party, and wanted the milk for a junket. "For this milk I shall get a shilling," said Dolly, "and with that shilling I shall buy 20 of the eggs laid by our neighbor's fine fowls. These eggs I shall put under mistress's old hen; and, if only half of the chicks grow up and thrive before the next fair-time comes round, I shall be able to sell them for a good guinea. Then I shall buy that jacket I saw in the village the other day, and a hat and ribbons, too; and, when I go to the fair, how smart I shall be. Robin will be there, too, for certain; and he will come up and offer to be friends again. I won't come round so easily, though; and, when he tries to kiss me, I shall just toss up my head, and—" Here Dolly gave her head the toss she was thinking about. Down came the pail, and the milk ran out on the ground. Good-by now to eggs, chickens, jacket, hat, ribbons and all. DOLLY. Never admit the future with such raw hus as to make you forget the responsibility of the present, neither reckon yourself in possession of that which is dependent upon a capricious and uncertain future.

The Week In Society.

PSUDONYMS.

My love for Alice I attest
By giving to her all her whims;
Just now she likes to be addressed
In pseudonyms.
And so I call her "Rose"—her claim
To be a "Beauty is complete;
And she by any other name
Would be as sweet.
She's "Opportunity today,
For has she not a slender waist?
And Opportunity, they say,
Should be embraced
"Necessity," "Sometimes style
My dear, for though she finds the flaw
In any plea that love may file,
She knows no law.
My list of pseudonyms includes
"Delay," and I describe her thus Because at times, in certain moods,
She's dangerous.
The debutantes her power dread,
She holds so many hearts in thrall;
I call her labor—Labor's said
To conquer all
And "April" fits her, though I fear
She'd frown to know I write her down:
"The spoiled darling of the year."
And of the town.

PRETTY LAWN PARTY.

Miss Emma Neihaus entertained Thursday evening at her home on Jefferson street with a lawn party in honor of Misses Alma and Emma Bendig, daughters of a prominent attorney of Cincinnati. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and presented a most attractive appearance. Dancing formed the amusement of the evening and light refreshments were served between the dances. The guests were: Misses Alma Bendig, Emma Bendig, Cincinnati; Pearl McKee, St. Louis; Stout, Helena, Ark.; Anne Jones, Tampa; Carrie Taliferro, Jackson, Tenn.; Annie Clarke, Little May Winstead, Marble, but a few teaspoonfuls taken and more asked for with perfect results. PROGRESSIVE DRIVING PARTY.

The society women of Missouri have invented a new diversion, a "progressive driving party," which might give an idea to some ingenious Paducah hostess. It was the happy idea says the New York Tribune of Miss Rosamont Guthrie of Mexico, Mo. The guests at Miss Guthrie's party started from her home, a couple in a buggy. After driving ten or fifteen minutes, all the buggies stopped, and each gentleman got out and climbed into the buggy just ahead of him. This was kept up all evening. The changes of partners were interspersed by refreshments at four different residences, the entire party being fed sandwiches and olives at one place, frappe at another, cheese straws and pickles at another, and orange ice and cake at the conclusion. Seventeen young women and seventeen young men participated in this unusual diversion.

SUMMER REFRESHMENTS.

A dainty ice, which is an appropriate refreshment for summer functions, has just been introduced into Paducah. It is frozen tea and is made from the following recipe: Make tea of medium strength, and let it cool. Sweeten and flavor with lemon juice, to taste. Freeze and serve in punch cups, with a sprig of mint dropped into each cup.

VETERANS MET

First day of Reunion.

Mr. J. B. Briggs, of Russellville, and Maj. R. W. Crabb, of Uniontown, Ky., and Mr. S. H. Taylor, of Uniontown, were guests of honor at a meeting of the local camp, Confederate Veterans last night. The meeting was held at the city hall and was for the purpose of further considering arrangements for the reunion of the Second Brigade here in October. The visitors desire to assist in preparations for it, and made some good suggestions last night.

It was decided to give a big parade on the afternoon of the first day, in which Vets from all over this section of Kentucky will participate.

It was announced that there will be delegations here from Evansville, Henderson, Bowling Green, Murray, Fulton, Mayfield, Benton and many other towns in this section of the country.

Maj. R. A. Browder, who was expected last night from Fulton, telephoned that the death of a relative prevented his coming. The others returned home this morning.

Every indication is for a successful and enjoyable reunion, and from now on efforts to make it so will be redoubled.

LIVELY FIGHT

PEOPLE OF ILLINOIS TOWN WANT TRAIN TO STOP.

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 29—A peculiar suit is now pending in the local courts at the village of Central City a suburb to Centralia. The Illinois Southern railway uses the tracks of the Illinois Central through this city and one mile north to the junction, which takes its trains through the village of Central City. One of the trackage agreements with the Illinois Central is that the Illinois Southern will do no local business between Centralia and that village. The Illinois Central has almost abandoned the place as a station for its own trains, which is resented by the people of that village. They have brought suit against the Illinois Southern to compel that company to stop its trains at that place under the state law requiring railroad companies to run one train a day each way over their own line and leased lines. The question in this case will be whether or not the trackage agreement the Illinois Central has made with the Southern will constitute a leased line.

DOG TOWN'S PROGRESS

A TELEPHONE LINE ADDED TO ITS OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

Dogtown, on the river front, one of Paducah's most picturesque suburbs, is making rapid progress, according to some of its enterprising citizens. Its sanitary sewerage, landscape gardening and well kept avenues may have been nothing marvelous in the past, but Dogtown now has a telephone line and the whole burg is agog over it. The phone was put in one of the shanty boats several days ago, and when it is connected up a "telephone party" may be given at which the residents of the suburb may assemble at the fortunate domicile and witness the workings of a genuine telephone. It is likely that in time the telephone will become a permanent fixture in Dogtown, even if the street car system is never extended there.

THE MORPHINE ROUTE

BENTON MAN ENDS TROUBLES BY COMMITTING SUICIDE.

W. M. Cox, better known as "Bill" Cox, committed suicide at Benton, Marshall county, last night by taking morphine. He formerly ran a blind tiger there but was converted a few weeks ago and went to Illinois with his wife and daughter. They lived there a short time and it seems Cox was unable to make a living and his wife went back to Benton with her daughter and opened a blind tiger again. Cox came back in a few days and had become despondent. He made several statements that led to the belief that he took the morphine with suicidal intent, although he left no positive statement to that effect. Miss Esther Griffith, of Benton, is visiting a family of Dr. B. B. Griffith.

ELECTION OF 1899: W. S. TAYLOR, 193,714 WM. GOEBEL, 191,331 JOHN YOUNG BROWN, 12,140.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience.—Washington.

THE WEATHER.

Balm and cooler tonight—Sunday fair.

It must have been an inventive mind that devised the exile of a Colorado priest to Kentucky for the remainder of his natural life as punishment for some real or imaginary offense. This is a new form of torture, but so long as it is not to breathe Kentucky that he is to be ex-patriated, it is not so bad.

It seems that some of the best and most prominent men on the Democratic list have wiggled out of the job of running for office. Either they don't like the crowd and the issue, or else they know that even if they should win the nominations they would be defeated in November when the whole people get a chance to say their say.

Let every man who still believes in the right of the people to choose their own rulers keep in mind these figures: The election of 1899, when, according to Mr. Goebel himself, if there was any stealing, the Republicans did not possibly do the stealing: Taylor, 193,714; Goebel, 191,331; Brown, 12,140. That is the blot on Democratic "scutcheon," and it cannot be wiped out.—Louisville Post.

cannot be wiped out.—Louisville Post.

Colonel Morris K. Belknap, the Republican candidate for governor, is a business man whose success makes him worthy of the endorsement of every business man in the state. He will undoubtedly be one of the best and most progressive governors the state ever had, and many business men all over the state, independent of politics, will vote for him. "I have voted the Democratic ticket all my life," said one of Paducah's best known and most prosperous business men the other day. "but I'm going to vote for Colonel Belknap for governor. I'm tired of this everlasting hurrah and politics and think it's time our public officers were doing something for the state and people besides spend their money with reckless prodigality, and will help put in a good business man." There are many other Democrats of the same opinion who will also vote for Colonel Belknap in November.

The Democrats have always insisted on taking politics into the board of education in Paducah. For years nearly every member of the board has been a Democrat, and the Democrats dispensed the good jobs to Democrats or the friends and relatives of Democrats, and gave to Democrats all the work there was to do for the educational department of Paducah. Yet the Democrats claim that the Republicans introduce politics into the board of education, because the Republicans sometimes see fit to criticize the official acts of the board. Republicans of Paducah recently, owing to claims of Democrats that they want to keep the board of education free from politics, proposed that each party nominate but half a ticket for the board, insuring the election of six Republicans and six Democratic trustees. This would virtually eliminate the non-political feature of the board the Democrats professed to desire, but they wouldn't agree to it. Although protesting that they want to keep the board free from politics, they refuse to agree to six men of some other party or to do anything else to obtain it, and say they must have whole hog or none. It looks, however, as if it will be none this time.

The Louisville Herald delivers a hot roast to Charles J. Howes, the young man who assaulted its reporter at Frankfort. It claims that Howes some time ago attempted to extort from Weeks Brothers, of Paducah, $10 for furnishing information that should be, and finally is, given upon application by state officials. The information asked was a list of fire insurance companies doing business in the state, according to the Herald, and upon protest of Weeks brothers, who had been accustomed to getting the information free, the young man is alleged to have reduced his price from $10 to $3. The matter was finally referred by the firm to the governor, and then to the secretary of state and the information was finally furnished free as it should have been at first. The only excuse offered so far as known, is that the application of the Paducah firm should have been made to the insurance department. The young man who demanded the $10 doubtless, however, knew this as well as any one else did, and could have turned the request over to the proper department as easily as his superiors subsequently did. It would be very interesting to know to what extent the Democratic administration in Kentucky has practiced these grafts, and others to the detriment of the taxpayers of the state and to the people who expect a good and progressive government, but it will probably never be known, especially when the state records are denied reporters.

A WORM KILLER.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Pmco, Wayne county, Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them, which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them; the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness, 25¢ at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

The cars were run until nearly midnight and many hundred people had to walk as the cars were too solidly packed. This is one of the biggest days the street car people have had in many years.

MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

SUIT ON POLICY

THE PADUCAH TOWING CO. SUES FOR LOSS OF BARGE.

Attorneys Campbell & Campbell yesterday afternoon late filed a suit for the Paducah Towing company against the Providence Washington Insurance company of Providence, R. I., to force the payment of an insurance policy.

The Paducah Towing company had a barge, the Lelia, which was sunk at the mouth of the Obion river in the Mississippi river, and the company refused to pay the claim, the accident having happened last February. The towing company finally resorted to law to secure the policy payment amounting to $1,337.65.

"Builds up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all its claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system."

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes: "I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy My Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes: "I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna."

"I have been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Tennessee Families go West to Locate.

Pass Through in Three Wagons—
Twenty-seven in the Crowd.

A unique outfit passed through the city today and crossed the river. It was a caravan of movers consisting of three wagons and one hack, in which were three families, of three husbands, three wives and 21 children. Three weeks ago they left Blount county, Tenn., on the border of North Carolina, with their teams, bound for the Indian territory.

They will be on the road about ten weeks before reaching their destination. It was an old-time sight to see such a crowd of men, women and children in their wagons all covered in dust and making such a long journey. The object of their trip is to go West and get homes for their children, but it is doubtful if their dreams will ever be realized.

COULD COOK

BUT COULDN'T EAT.

A man who has seen many years sailing as cook on the "Inland Seas," as the Great Lakes are called, has learned a thing or two about food as the following story shows:

"I am a cook on the Great Lakes and have for five years suffered more than pen or tongue could tell from stomach trouble and have taken medicines enough to float the boat I sail in, and yet without any relief from pain.

"There were long stretches of time when I could not even keep milk or wine or the lightest kind of food on my stomach and I had fallen away from 145 to 105 pounds in less than two years. I saw so much in the newspapers about your food Grape Nuts that one day I decided to try it although without the least hope of success.

"So I bought a package in Cleveland and made the trial and my stomach was so ranky I was afraid to try more than one teaspoonful with a little milk. To my surprise I kept it on my stomach without any bad feelings and at the end of an hour I knew it had digested and gone to the right spot so I tried two teaspoonfuls more with the same result. And now for the last seven months I have lived almost entirely on Grape Nuts where before I simply lived on medicines which consisted principally of opiates that relieved me for a time but shattered my nerves and weakened my stomach.

"Soon after I began Grape Nuts I gave up all medicines for I saw that Grape Nuts was making me. Now my nerves are back in their proper shape and my stomach is so strong I can eat almost any kind of food without any suffering whatever.

"It may interest you to know that your food is very fine in cases of sea-sickness for in this line it has no equal. In many cases of very rough water I have given Grape Nuts to people on my boat who were seasick, when the sight of even coffee would be unbearable, but a few teaspoonfuls of Grape Nuts prepared with only water was taken and more asked for and given with perfect results.

"You never saw two healthier or happier youngsters than my two grandchildren who eat nothing else for breakfast or supper but Grape Nuts. There are two of the other men on my boat besides myself who eat nothing else but Grape Nuts for breakfast. Had it not been for this perfect food I would now be dependent on my relatives for support. The fellows on the boat make fun of me when they see me coming along with my little yellow package but I guess under the circumstances I can afford to laugh with them."

THEATRICAL WORLD.

At The Kentucky next week:
Monday night: Mr. Jolly of Joliet, with Mr. Eddie Garvie and a big musical company.
Tuesday night: Dora Thorne.

This season the box office hours has been changed, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and today the new order was inaugurated.

Prof. Wm. Deal and his most excellent orchestra, will again furnish music for The Kentucky, and promises many new overtures during the coming season.

Hermann, the great, who comes to The Kentucky soon, has captured all the big things in the way of sensational illusions in Europe and next season appears in an entirely new programme of magic and mystery.

Seats went on sale today with a rush for Monday night's opening of The Kentucky's regular season, when Eddie Garvie, in "Mr. Jolly of Joliet," supported by a big company, will be the attraction. One of the old time representative audiences is expected, and a pleasant surprise awaits the patrons of The Kentucky, as the house has all been freshened up, and repainted, and with the blaze of the thousand electric lights, handsomely dressed and beautiful women, with the sweet strains of the orchestra, and the excitement of the opening of the season, when every body that is worth while will be there, will make it indeed a pleasant evening.

Many improvements in the service parade, and helped to get up the big top. Had all the rest of the time to myself, excepting to keep an eye on the dogs. 'Twas a snap."

"Well, I should say so! You beat me. Got anything now?"

"Oh, yes! I'm going out playing dates with my partner. We've got a pretty stiff knock-about turn. What you doin'?"

"Say, Jack, I got a great act. I was out eatin' fire in the kid show with the great Consolidated, London, Paris and St. Petersburg Syndicate Circus and Allied shows all summer after the Tom show closed, till the sheriff caught up with us and laid down on the big top out in Xenia, Ohio; but my new act's a corker. I'm out doin' the strong man in a hall show."

"That so? What you call your self?"

"That's what catches 'em. I got the swellest name yet. I call myself 'The Marvelous Human Shadow,' an' my act's the hit o' the show."

This is the kind of character Edward Garvie will impersonate in "Mr. Jolly of Joliet," the clever musical comedy by Chas. Newman.

The powerful love romance, Dora Thorne, a dramatization of Charlotte M. Brann's, for perhaps the gifted author is better known as Bertha M. Clay) famous novel of the same name is to be presented at The Kentucky on Tuesday night. In its dramatic form, "Dora Thorne" has gained in popularity; the novel was utterly devoid of comedy or touches of light and shade, but the dramatists has brought to the patrons is promised at The Kentucky, and part of the old staff will remain, but there has been many changes. Notably, Mr. W. O. Malone, the new stage manager, who was the first in this position, season before last, and who now returns to his old love, and have complete charge of the stage and advertising department. Mr. Wil Epstein will again be on the door, assisted by a well trained corps of usher water boys and programers. Mr. Tommie Roberts, the well known mail carrier will be assistant treasurer, and gallery ticket seller, and Manager English will act as his own treasurer and main ticket seller, and have charge of the box office during the day.

Nearly every humorous character that is ever met with in real life has been impersonated on the stage but there is one which can be encountered any pleasant day in the vicinity of Fourteenth street, New York, that will be introduced for the first time next season. It is the versatile, "all round" comedian, who can do anything from fire eating in a museum to reciting with melodramatic effect "The Face Upon the Barroom Floor." Two of them met the other day and the following first class conversation ensued:

"Hello, Billy! Shake!"
"Why hello Jack!"
"Say, I ain't met you since we was with that Tom show that went up against it in Kankakee."
"Sure! That's right! Were you been since? B'en doin' anything?"
"Sure! B'en workin' all the time. You out last summer?"
"Sure thing! Same ol' graft. B'en out with a Tom show under canvass. What you do?"
"Was in same kind o' trick. I doubt but what we de Bokin' an' St. Clair, but us a black face in the Heaven on top o' box, played the Tuba in the out these qualities to a marked degree in the play, although depending upon the heavier emotional scenes for lasting popularity. The players engaged for portrayal of the well known characters have been selected with a strict regard to their personal appearance and adaptability to the various roles. The name part, "Dora Thorne" is in the capable hands of Miss Helene Carral, who, although young, has had four seasons experience in emotional parts, and is well fitted by nature to enact Dora Thorne. Others of importance in the large and well balanced cast are Gertrude Gilbert, Marie Barthorska, Francis Pierlot, Roy D. Way, Chas. T. Hart.

MARESCALCHI. SCOFIELD CONCERT.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Minnie Schofield, of our city, Paducah is to have a rare treat in the way of a musical concert to be given at The Kentucky Monday, September 28, by Signor Marescalchi, the great Italian baritone of Chicago, late leading baritone with Madame Patti, also the Abbey and Grand Opera Co., artist of renown, who will be assisted by his pupil, Mrs. Schofield, and some of the best talent in this city. The program is attractive in the true musical sense, consisting of the best selections from Grand Opera. Signor Marescalchi has enjoyed the distinction of being Madame Patti's favorite "Figaro" in the "Barber of Seville," his voice is high baritone of great range and is exquisite in quality.

Mrs. Schofield, his pupil, possesses a very sweet voice. She will sing with Signor Marescalchi the great duo for soprano and baritone from "Barber of Seville," which is one of the most difficult duos of the operatic stage.

OUTING SPOTS IN THE NORTHWEST

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines.

MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

(Based Upon the Mystery Surrounding the Fate of the Dauphin, Son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette)

Copyright, 1901, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"Stools there were for children, and armchairs for old people were not lacking. The small yellow spinning wheel of Mme. Ursule, as I found afterward Mme. Ursule was commonly called, stood ready to revolve its golden disk wherever she sat.

The little Grignon daughter who had stood lost in wonder at the dancing of Annule de Chamont was now a turner of hands herself, all flaxen white and contrasting with the darkness of Katarina's hair. Katarina was taken home to the Grignons after her mother's death. Both girls had been educated in Montreal.

"Poor Mme. Ursule! She would have been so much more comfortable in her death if she had relieved her mind," Mme. Ursule said the first evening.
"She used to speak of you often, for seeing you made a great impression upon her and she never let us forget you. I am sure she knew more about you than she ever told me. I have an important disclosure to make," she says. "Come around me; I want all of you to hear it." Then she fell back and died without telling it.

A touch of mystery was not lacking to the house. Several times I saw the tail of a gray gown disappear through an open door. Some woman half entered and drew back.

"It's Madeleine Jordan," an inmate told me each time. "She avoids strangers."

I asked if Madeleine Jordan was a relative.

"Oh, no," Mme. Ursule replied; "but the family who brought her here went back to Canada, and of course they left her with us."

Of course, Madeleine Jordan, or anybody else who lacked a roof, would be left with the Grignons, but in that house a hermit seemed out of place, and I said so to Mme. Ursule.

"Poor child," she responded. "I think she likes the bustle and noise.
She is not a hermit. What difference can it make to her whether people are around her or not?"

The subject of Madeleine Jordan was no doubt beyond a man's handling. I had other matters to think about, and directly plunged into them. First, the Menominee and Winnebago must be assembled in council. They held all the desirable land.

"We don't like your Indian scheme
in Green Bay," said Pierre Grignon.
"But if the tribes here are willing to sell their lands other settlers can't prevent it."

He went with me to meet the savages on the opposite side of the Fox near the stockade. There the talking and eating lasted two days. At the end of that time I had a footing for our prospects in the Wisconsin portion of the Illinois territory, and the savages who granted it danced a war dance in our honor. Every brave shook over his head the scalp he had taken. I saw one cap of soft long brown hair.

"Eh?" said Pierre Grignon, sitting beside me. "Their dirty trophies make you ghastly! Do your eastern tribes never dance war dances?"

After the land was secured its boundaries had to be set. Then my could be had, and many French landholders in the territory owned black slaves. Pierre Grignon himself kept one little negro like a monkey among the stately Indians.

Dealing with acres and with people wild as flocks would have been worthwhile if nothing had resulted except our welcome back to Pierre Grignon's open house. The grandmother hobbled on her sick across the floor to give me her hand. Mme. Ursule reproached me with delaying, and Pierre said it was high time to seek winter quarters. The girls recounted harvest reels and even widdings, with dances
following, which I had lost while away from the center of festivity.

"The little negro carried my saddlebags to the guest room. Skenedonk was to sleep on the floor. Abundant preparations for the evening meal were going forward in the kitchen. As I mounted the stairway at Mme. Ur-sule's direction I heard a thud of china, her very best, which adorned racks and dressers. It was being set forth on the mahogany board.

The upper floor of Pierre Grignon's house was divided by a hall similar to the one below. I ran upstairs and halted.

Standing with her back to the failing light which came through one fan window at the hall end was a woman's figure in a gray dress. I gripped the rail.

My first thought was, "How shall I tell her about Paul?" My next was,
"What is the matter with her?"

She rippled from head to foot in the shiver of rapture peculiar to her and stretched her arms to me, crying:

"Paul! Paul!"

CHAPTER XXVI.

"O H, madame!" I said, bewildered and sick as from a stroke. It was no comfort that the high lady who scarcely allowed me to kiss her hand before we parted clung around my neck. She trembled against me.

"Have you come back to your mother, Paul?"

"Eagle!" I pleaded. "Don't you know me? You surely know Lazarre!"
She kissed me, pulling my head down in her arms, the velvet mouth like a baby's, and looked straight into my eyes.

"Madame, try to understand! I am Louis! If you forget Lazarre, try to remember Louis!"

She heard with attention and smiled.
The pressure of my arms spoke to her.
A man's passion addressed itself to a little child. All other barriers which had stood between us were nothing to this.

I held her and she could never be mine.
She was not in body the contours of her upturned face were round and softened with much smiling—but mind sickness robbed me of her in the assessment of finding her.

"She can't be insane!" I said aloud.
"Oh, God, anything but that! She was not a woman that could be so wicked!"

Like a fool I questioned and tried to get some explanation.

Eagle smoothed my arm and nestled her hand in my neck.

"My little boy! He has grown so he a man—while his mother has grown down to be a child! Do you know what I am now, Paul?"

I choked a sob in my throat and told her I did not.

"I am your cloud mother. I live in a cloud. Do you love me while I am in the cloud?"

I told her I loved her with all my strength, in the cloud or out of it.

"Will you take care of me as I used to take care of you?"

I swore to the Almighty that she should be my future care.

"I need you! I have watched for you in the woods and on the water.
Paul! You have been long coming back to me."

I heard Mme. Ursule mounting the stairs to see if my room was in order.

Who could understand the relation in which Eagle and I now stood, and the claim she made upon me? She clung to my arm when I took it away.
I led her by the hand. Even this sight caused Mme. Ursule a shock at the head of the stairs.

"M'r Williams!"

My hostess paused and looked at us.
"Did she come to you of her own accord?"

"Yes, madame."

"I never knew her to notice a stranger before."

"Madame, do you know who this is?"

"Madeleine Jordan."

"It is the Marquise de Ferrier."

"The Marquise de Ferrier?"

"Yes, madame."

"Do you know her?"

"I have known her ever since I can remember."

"The Marquise de Ferrier! But, M'r Williams, did she know you?"

"She knows me," I asserted. "But not as myself. I am sure she knows me! But she confuses me with the child she lost! I cannot explain to you, madame, how positive I am that she recognizes me any more than I can explain why she will call me Paul.
I think I ought to tell you, so you will see the position in which I am placed, that this lady is the lady I once hoped to marry."

"Saints have pity, M'r Williams!"

"I want to ask you some questions."

"Bring her down to the fire. Come,
dear child," said Mme. Ursule, coaxing Eagle. "Nobody is there. The bedrooms can never be so warm as the log fire, and this is a bitter evening."

The family room was lighted by candles, as often happened; for such an illumination in the chimney must have quenched any paler glare. We had a few moments of brief privacy from the swarming life which constantly passed in and out.

I placed Eagle by the fire and she sat there obediently while I talked to Mme. Ursule apart.

"Was her mind in this state when she came to you?"

"She was even a little wilder than she is now. The girls have been a benefit to her."

"They were not afraid of her?"

"And who could be afraid of the dear child? She is a lady—that's plain. Ah, M'r Williams, what she must have gone through!"

"Yet see how happy she looks!"

"She always seemed happy enough.
She would come to this house. So when the Jordans went to Canada Pierre and I both said, 'Let her stay.'"

"Who were the Jordans?"

"The only family that escaped with their lives from the massacre when she lost her family. Mme. Jordan told me the whole story. They had friends among the Winnebagoes who protected them."

"Did they give her their name?"

"No, the people in La Haye did that.
We knew she had another name. But I think it very likely her title was not used in the settlement where they lived. Titles are no help in pioneering."

"Did they call her Madeleine?"

"She calls herself Madeleine."

"How long has she been with your family?"

"Nearly a year."

"Did the Jordans tell you when this change came over her?"

"Yes. It was during the attack when her child was taken from her. She saw other children killed. The Indians were afraid of her. They respect dejected people; not a bit of harm was done to her. They let her alone and the Jordans took care of her."

The daughter and adopted daughter of the house came in with a rush of outdoor air and, seeing Eagle first, ran to kiss her on the cheek one after the other.

"Madeleine has come down!" said
Marie.

"I thought we should coax her in here some time," said Katarina.

Between them, standing slim and tall, their equal in height, she was yet like a little sister. Though their faces were unlined, hers held a divine youth.

"Paul has come," Eagle told Katarina and Marie. Holding their hands, she walked between them toward me and bade them notice my height. "I am his cloud mother," she said. "How droll it is that parents grow down little while their children grow up big!"

Mme. Ursule shook her head pitifully.
But the girls really saw the droll side and laughed with my cloud mother. I left the room and was doling myself from the house to walk in the chill wind, but she caught me.

"It will be good!" pleaded my cloud mother, her face in my breast.

Her son who had grown up big while she grew down little went back to the family room with her.

Our singular relationship was established in the house, where hospitality made room and apology for all human weakness.

Nobody of that region except the Indians stayed indoors to shiver by a fire.
Eagle and the girls, in their warm capotes, dressed with me the coldest winter days. She was as happy as they were; her cheeks tingled as pink as theirs. Sometimes I thought her eyes must answer me with her old self command; their bright grayness was so natural.

I believed if her delusions were humored they would unwind from her like the cloud which she felt them to be. The family had long fallen into the habit of treating her as a child, playing some imaginary character.
She seemed less demented than walking in a dream, her faculties asleep.
It was somnambulism rather than madness. She had not the expression of insane people, the shifty eyes, the cunning and perverseness, the animal and torpid presence.

If I called her Mme. de Ferrier instead of my cloud mother, a strained and puzzled look replaced her usual satisfaction. I did not often use the name, nor did I try to make her repeat my own. It was my daily effort to fall in with her unhappiness, for if she saw any anxiety she was quick to plead.

"Don't you like the name, more, I say you are a part of me, I am a cloud mother?"

"No," I would answer. "Lazarre will never be tired of you."

"Do you think I am growing smaller? Will you love me if I shrink to a baby?"

"I will love you."

"I used to love you when you were so tiny, Paul, before you knew how to love me back. If I forget how"—she clutched the lapels of my coat—"will you love me then?"

"Eagle, say this: 'Lazarre cannot leave me!'"

"Lazarre cannot leave me,"
I heard her repeating this at her sowing. She boasted to Marie Grignon: "Lazarre cannot leave me!—
Paul taught me that."

My cloud mother asked me to tell her the stories she used to tell me.
She had forgotten them.

JUDGE ROBERTS

WELL KNOWN ILLINOIS JUDGE
IS SELLING ILL.

We learn that the visit of Circuit Judge J. P. Roberts to Colorado has not improved his health as much as had been hoped and he is still in rather a serious condition, says the Metropolitan Herald. The judge's numerous friends in this county will be pained to receive this information and all hope that a change for the better may soon occur.

WATCH FOR A CHILL.

However slight at this time of the year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn and an all-tired-out feeling even comes before the chill. Herbine, by its prompt stimulative action on the liver, drives the malarial germs out of the system, purified the blood, tones up the system and restores health. 50c at Dattois, Kolb & Co.
